

From the Star Bulletin, Thursday, June 7, 2007

Newswatch

Salvation Army gets $500,000 gift

The James Campbell Co. and the James and Abigail Campbell Family Foundation have donated $500,000 to the Salvation Army toward the construction of the Joan Kroc Corps Community Center in Kapolei.

The combined grant is among the largest donations made for the Hawaii Kroc Center. The church is raising $23 million to match money the widow of McDonald's founder Ray Kroc dedicated for the center in her will.

The center will sit on 12 acres on the corner of the new North-South Road and East-West Road in Kapolei. It is scheduled to open in 2010.